"Analyzing Current Professional Liability Risks and Claims Trends in JATC Operations"

Joint Apprenticeship Training Committees provide core values to unions by training and educating students to high standards of safety and craftsmanship. In recent years, JATC' and training funds have experienced an increasing amount of Professional Liability claims from the Department of Labor and from prospective or current students. Ms. Fletcher will review current claim trends and how directors and trustees of JATC's may protect themselves and their operations from costly lawsuits.

Presenters: Tina Fletcher Vice President, Ullico Casualty Group, Inc., Laverne Wingfield Director, Claims, Ullico Casualty Group, Inc.

2:45pm - 3:00pm Break

3:00pm - 4:00pm The 21st Century Classroom Narragansett Ballroom A&B

The group of presenters will showcase how curriculum in the classroom has evolved and transformed the traditional "textbook and workbook" format style of training. The blended learning format incorporates textbooks containing detailed graphics and digital resources that enhance the book content. Apprentices no longer use traditional workbooks to complete their assignments but instead will log into the Learning Management System (LMS) to complete their homework. Apprentices now learn in safe environment in the active classroom using simulators to replicate task performed in the field.

Presenters: Marty L. Riesberg, Director of Curriculum Development, Electrical Training Alliance and Carl R. Hansen, Director of Product Development for ATP Learning Solutions

Moderator: Spencer W. Viner Esq., General Counsel Emeritus

4:00 pm - 5:00pm Registered Apprenticeship for High Schools

Registered Apprenticeship provides an exceptional career path for young people– combining post-secondary education with employment in a model of earning while learning. Nationally, the average age of apprentices is closer to 30 than 20, yet youth unemployment is rampant. How can we create better alignment between High Schools and Registered Apprenticeship?

The presenters will discuss how we can collectively bring important connections between high schools and Registered Apprenticeship to scale. Within the context of a newly released national framework on the subject, the goals of this session are to lift up what is working well by examining the innovative efforts of the presenters, while engaging discussion to identify needed actions going forward.

Presenters: Dr. Ken Wagner, RI Commissioner of Education, Dr. Tom Kriger, Director of Research, North America's Building Trades Unions, Mr. Michael Sabitoni, President, RI Building & Construction Trades Council, Mr. Lyle Hamm, Executive Director of NE Carpenters Training Fund.
